Bali Health Journal (BHJ) is an official journal published by Department of Research and Community Services of Medika Persada Bali Institute of Health Sciences (Lembaga Penelitian dan Pengabdian Kepada Masyarakat, Institut Ilmu Kesehatan Medika Persada Bali). BHJ aims to provide an information space for researchers, educators, students, health practitioners, and the general public who have an interest in health sciences. We accept research papers and literature reviews of various topics in Health Sciences. The fields in health sciences covered by BHJ are biochemistry, biotechnology, biomedics, engineering, epidemiology, genetics, nursing, pharmacology, pharmacy, public health, health management, psychology, physical therapy, and medicine.

All accepted manuscripts will be reviewed by independent reviewers from various universities with relevant expertise, followed by an editor's endorsement before being published.
